Problem Statement:

Students need a better way to create healthy study habits while using technology

Details:

It's easy for kids and students to get easily distracted while studying using technology. Games and tv are a click away. Developing a software or app that provides a focused and comforting study environment for students would be very beneficial to their learning. Creating a space that would make them wanna continue learning.